Welcome To God's House

I have always enjoyed studying about the Wright brothers. It's always amazed me at their correlation of building both bicycles and airplanes. Many inventors were trying desperately, during the same time period as the Wright brothers, to fly airplanes. Their self-balancing airplanes would invariably lose control. The Wright brothers, however, had a totally different approach. They realized that an airplane didn't have to be totally stable and could work like a bicycle as the result of the rider making small adjustments while "flying" a bike.

When they were designing and building bicycles, the Wright brothers didn't know they were preparing for a future dream. When they learned all about bicycle chains and sprockets, they didn't know they would one day develop a chain and sprocket transmission system for propulsion. When they were researching aerodynamics, balance, and control, they were being prepared for future developments. When they studied how to build strong, lightweight structures, they were gaining knowledge for taking to the air.

There is so much we can learn from the incredible story of the Wright brothers. Maybe you have a dream that just never seems to get off the ground. Maybe, just maybe, you are being prepared for the future by what you are doing right now. When our ultimate goal is to be all we can be for the Kingdom of God, we may still have some developmental traits that are preparing us for heights unknown. When He is our focus, we will soar with Him, but we must first prepare and be patient in our time of learning. As scripture tells us, "they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint." Don't let others discourage your dreams. Learn, build— and fly!
